

Call for Proposals

38th DGTA conference 2018 in Vienna

Eric Berne meets Sigmund Freud – Transactional Analysis moving on

The ideas of Eric Berne and his followers are the source from which we draw as Transactional Analysts. These thoughts were influenced essentially by Sigmund Freud's Psychoanalysis. Using many other impulse and own insights Transactional Analysis increased to a large river of theory and methodology.

Today, in a world of rapid change, we have to face the task to move on and to find answers for the problems of human beings in the 21st century.

In Vienna, the birthplace of psychotherapy, we want to discuss how we can develop and renew the heritage left to us.

We invite all TSTAs, CTA-Trainers, PTSTAs, CTAs, advanced trainees via their teachers and persons from other psychological schools interested in the topic to put forward their proposals for workshops for the congress theme

„Eric Berne meets Sigmund Freud – Transactional Analysis moving on“

Please submit your offers starting from July 1, 2017 directly via

<https://www.dgta-kongress.de/workshop-registrierung/>

End for registration for your offers will be on September 30, 2017.

Please mind:

Workshop offers arriving later than that date cannot be mentioned. Only this way we all can ensure the opportunity to announce and promote the contents of the conference early enough.

Your Vienna conference team